

Treatment Innovations

28 Westbourne Road
Newton Centre, MA 02459

617-299-1630 (phone)

617-701-1295 (fax)

info@seekingsafety.org (email)

www.seekingsafety.org and www.treatment-innovations.org (web)

2/23/23

Re: Sole Source Justification

To Whom It May Concern:

Thanks for your request for information regarding Seeking Safety and sole source justification.

Training:

Seeking Safety is a copyrighted, manualized evidence-based practice for the treatment of trauma and/or substance abuse. The manual was published in 2002 by Guilford Press, which owns the Seeking Safety book copyright. Guilford Press has given permission to the developer Dr. Lisa Najavits and her consulting organization Treatment Innovations to conduct proprietary trainings to professionals on the model to teach the model, and ensure fidelity, quality assurance and consistency. Seeking Safety is also trademarked by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.

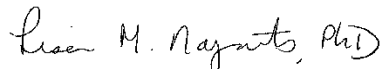

Dr. Najavits supervises and oversees several national trainers who operate under her direct instruction. The only trainers trained by her to conduct Seeking Safety training are listed on our website (www.treatment-innovations.org, section "About Us"). Only trainings conducted by Dr. Najavits or her associates can be considered model-adherence and consistent in information and approach with the model.

Materials:

There are also various sole-source materials related to Seeking Safety. All of our sole-source materials are viewable at www.treatment-innovations.org, section Store.

If you have any questions, please contact info@seekingsafety.org.

Best regards,

Lisa M. Najavits, PhD
Director, Treatment Innovations